

St Gerard's win their own Rider Cup

St Gerard's School Bray hosted their inaugural interschools showjumping championship last Saturday in Gerry O'Gorman's excellent location at Bosewell Ashford. The event was the first in the Hoofprints League for this academic year. Forty five teams of four riders per team from schools around the country competed for the title. Riders had to jump a challenging course in two different arenas and only those teams finishing on a zero total after the two rounds went forward to the jump off.

Twelve teams including two from the host school went forward to tackle the tricky jump off course. With interschools favourites such as Kilkenny College, Loreto Mullingar and Gorey Community school in the jump off, the standard was always going to be high.

The track proved to be difficult with only a handful of clear rounds posted. Miriam Bourke from the St Gerard's green team got the first clear round in the jump off. Her team mate Jessica Crosse posted another very fast clear round to put that team in first place. The other team members were David Bourke and Emily Murphy.

St Gerard's blue team completed a home one two when excellent rounds from Hayley Mulcahy and Julie Collins left them narrowly behind the green team. Kim Mulcahy and Alice Murphy were the other blue team members. Loreto Mullingar slotted into third place.

Prizewinners were presented with their prizes and hoofprints photo vouchers by Mr Tom Geraghty headmaster.

St Gerard's win their own Rider Cup

St Gerard's School Bray hosted their inaugural interschools showjumping championship last Saturday in Gerry O'Gorman's excellent location at Bosewell Ashford. The event was the first in the Hoofprints League for this academic year. Forty five teams of four riders per team from schools around the country competed for the title. Riders had to jump a challenging course in two different arenas and only those teams finishing on a zero total after the two rounds went forward to the jump off.

Twelve teams including two from the host school went forward to tackle the tricky jump off course. With interschools favourites such as Kilkenny College, Loreto Mullingar and Gorey Community school in the jump off, the standard was always going to be high.

The track proved to be difficult with only a handful of clear rounds posted. Miriam Bourke from the St Gerard's green team got the first clear round in the jump off. Her team mate Jessica Crosse posted another very fast clear round to put that team in first place. The other team members were David Bourke and Emily Murphy.

St Gerard's blue team completed a home one two when excellent rounds from Hayley Mulcahy and Julie Collins left them narrowly behind the green team. Kim Mulcahy and Alice Murphy were the other blue team members. Loreto Mullingar slotted into third place.

Prizewinners were presented with their prizes and hoofprints photo vouchers by Mr Tom Geraghty headmaster.